

ECONOMOU-VOSNIADES HOUSE

PROJECT: ECONOMOU-VOSNIADES HOUSE

LOCATION: SKIATHOS . GREECE

YEAR: 2008

The island of Skiathos, presents interesting landscape and architectural features, which combine the blue sea, the lush hills with pines and old trees, and white-walled, tiled-roof buildings.

The site, almost 328ft long, literally descends to the sea with a slope of 30%, and the complex reaches the sea level.

The program included a main house with a separate apartment on the top floor for the daughter and two small separate houses for the two adult children. Each unit has two floors. Although all three buildings belong to the same family, this approach allows the family to have independence and privacy.

The complex also boasts a sports area, a tennis court and a porch with barbecue area, swimming pool and solarium.

Based on the conditions of the terrain and the program, the key to the project was the design of connections from a side street that serves as an access to each house, an arduous job to create functional exterior spaces in perfect relation to the houses and guaranteed sea views. The result of the fusion of these buildings in a terrain with steep slopes, varied volumes, pedestrian paths and access for vehicles, terraces and a solarium converts this project into a small private resort, exclusive for the family.
